

One-to-one athlete-facing support.

For athletes exploring inward practice under pressure — without clinical framing or mindset hype.

WHAT THIS IS

One-to-one athlete-facing support, held to the same non-clinical discipline as the rest of enStill's practice.

It may begin through an individual athlete inquiry or a sports-organization inquiry, but the support itself is one-to-one and athlete-facing — not a public program.

WHAT THIS IS NOT

Not therapy, diagnosis, treatment, or coaching.

Not mindset coaching or motivational programming.

Not a validated named protocol or a guaranteed performance intervention.

THE BOUNDARY

A disciplined, non-clinical inward-awareness practice. It does not provide therapy, diagnosis, treatment, or coaching. It may complement — not replace — appropriately qualified support.

TWO PATHS

01

For an individual athlete

It begins with a conversation to clarify fit and context.

02

For a team or organization

A conversation and a written overview are available for sports organizations and support staff.

HOW THIS BEGINS

This is one-to-one, athlete-facing support. No team, school, sport, diagnosis, or injury detail is required to start a conversation.

NEXT STEP

To begin, use the request form at enstill.life/athlete-support to arrange a first conversation.